

2017 “Compassion in Action” Community and International Health Leadership Awards

Background and Purpose: As a result of a generous gift from Dr. Zorba and Penny Paster on behalf of the Paster Family Foundation, the University of Wisconsin School of Medicine and Public Health (UW SMPH) Department of Family Medicine and Community Health (DFMCH) is pleased to announce two awards: the “Compassion in Action” Community Health Leadership Award and the “Compassion in Action” International Health Leadership Award. The awards are presented in recognition of third and fourth-year medical students who, in the course of their medical school education, developed, implemented or improved health care in a disadvantaged community. “Disadvantaged community” is defined as a community or population that suffers, because it lacks sufficient necessities for the health and well-being of its members.

Who is Eligible? Third- and fourth-year UW SMPH Medical Students

Nominations: Students may nominate themselves or may be nominated by other students, faculty, or staff. If you wish to nominate a student, let them know, so they can pursue the nomination process.
